Charles G. Moorman Struck by Automobile While Riding Bicycle at Street Corner

INJURIES THOUGHT FATAL

Thrown on His Head and Suffers Fractured Skull, Broken Arm and Bruises

AUTO DRIVER BLAMELESS

Raymond Morrell, 918 West Third Street, Not Held by Police After Investigation

Charles G. Moorman, a well known cement contractor of this city, was in a critical condition this afternoon, and not expected to live, following an accident which happened at noon, when he was struck by an automobile at Second and Jackson streets.

He was riding a bicycle, and turned directly into the path of a machine, according to reports. He was thrown to the brick pavement on his head, and suffered a fractured skull, a broken arm and other injuries, which are believed to be too serious for him to withstand.

The machine was driven by Raymond Morrell and owned by John Robinson, 918 West Third street. The driver stated that he was living at the Robinson home. He was not arrested as police, who investigated, are of the opinion that he was blameless.

Mr. Moorman, who is past 70 years of age, was removed to his residence, 423 West First street, a square and a half from where the accident happened and several physicians were summoned.

Mr. Moorman and the automobile were both going west in Second street. As the machine neared Jackson street, Mr. Morrell stated that he noticed Mr. Moorman begin to cut across and turn south into Jackson street. Mr. Morrell stated that he sounded his horn but it was not heeded by Mr. Moorman.

When a collision could not be averted, Mr. Morrell swerved his machine to the south side of the street in an effort to avoid a crash, but his machine struck the curb on the left side of the street, which prevented it from going into the lawn, and the crash resulted. Mr. Moorman was thrown to the street, and a wheel on his bicycle was demolished.

When the machine struck the curb a rear wheel was crushed in, and a front wheel went through an iron grating in the gutter. The machine was badly wrenched and broken in the accident.

According to the investigation of Police Chief Blackburn and Patrolman...

MRS. BLANCHE ALSMAN ACCUSED IN 2 CHARGES

Affidavits For Child Neglect and Encouraging Delinquency Preferred By Husband

BOND GIVEN IN EACH CASE

Mrs. Blanche Alsmann, 424 East Eighth street, was arrested late Tuesday by Sheriff Hunt on two charges preferred in juvenile court, one being for child neglect and the other for encouraging delinquency. Bond in the sum of $100 on each case was provided.

The complaint was made, according to officers, by her husband, Thomas Alsmann, who accused her of leaving their home and visiting in Indianapolis, returning home with another man. He was also charged with being an accessory in the delinquency cases, and gave bond.

According to the officers, the man is the victim of circumstances, and the charge against him will be dismissed after an investigation, if his story is found to be true. It is said that the traction car was crowded upon leaving Indianapolis, and the two occupied the same seat, and both walked a portion of the distance together, and were said to have been seen by Mr. Alsmann, who placed charges against both of them. The accused man told the officers that he had never seen the woman before, and did not even know her name. Mrs. Alsmann also stated that the man was a stranger to her, and related the same story to the officers, they said.

MOSCOW SCHOOL TEACHER KILLS SELF WITH SHOTGUN

Taking Advantage of Parents' Absence, Carl Honey, 24, Commits Suicide Near St. Paul

WAS MILROY H. S. GRADUATE

Just as the funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Honey, well known woman of Moscow, were about ready to begin Tuesday afternoon at Moscow, another death visited the family, when the grandson of the deceased, Carl Honey, age 24, committed suicide at his home near St. Paul.

The young man used a shotgun, and took advantage of the absence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Honey, who were enroute to the funeral at Moscow. No reason was assigned for the action. His body was found in an old house on the Orville Meyers farm, a half mile northwest of St. Paul in Shelby county, where he had been employed this summer.

Word of his death reached the relatives attending the services for the aged woman, a short time before the services began. The young man was a graduate of the Milroy high school, and took up teaching school as a profession. He had taught one term in the school at Moscow.

He is survived by his parents and a sister, Lucille. Dr. G. I. Inlow, county coroner of Shelby county, was called, and reported that the full charge of the gun entered his head.

After his death, it was reported that he had recently been involved in a love affair, which might have had some bearing on his action, as he had acted queerly for two days, and refused to eat, according to reports.

HEAVY, HEAVY, HOVERS OVER HIS HEAD

DEVELOPMENT CO. IS ORGANIZED HERE

Purpose is to Develop County and City and Build Homes on Rent Payment Plan

WALTER THOMAS MANAGER

New Capital Will be Interested in Rush County Real Estate by New Concern

The organization of the Rush Development and Investment company for the purpose of developing Rush county and Rushville and to build houses on the rent payment plan, was announced today.

The company was incorporated some few weeks ago and is now ready to do business, having opened offices in suit four on the second floor of the American National Bank building, with Walter Thomas as secretary-treasurer and general manager of the company.

Other officers of the organization are Harold Pearce, president, and Ben Wilson vice president, and these three officers, together with J. D. Case and John H. Kiplinger, constitute the board of directors.

Mr. Thomas, who has been mayor of the city for almost four years, was for a number of years in the poultry business at the head of the Adams Produce company, which he sold a few months ago.

The Rush Development and Investment company is to fill a need in Rushville that has always existed, but has never been met, it was pointed out, in that it will afford the opportunity to own a home by paying for it like rent, after a small down payment is made.

While the company is organized for the dual purpose of developing the city and county and to assist in home building, it will have for its purpose also the stimulation of the real estate business by bringing outside capital into Rush county for investment in city, town and rural real estate.

The matter of financing the organization has been attended to, it is announced, and the company has unlimited financial backing.

Mr. Thomas, the executive officer of the company, said that he had made a survey since becoming interested in the new business and had found that Rush county land values were from 25 to 30 per cent lower in comparison than any other county in the state that is similarly situated.

Recovered Ford Has Almost Lost Its "Identity"

Coupe Stolen Here Week Ago Sunday and Found Near Liberty Almost Completely Dismantled and Motor Head Replaced With Old One. Belonged to Morristown Man

The Ford coupe belonging to Lyall Wortman of Morristown, which was stolen here a week ago last Sunday from in front of the residence of his brother, Lawrence Wortman, Tenth and Harrison streets, has been recovered at Liberty, according to an investigation made Tuesday.

He could scarcely identify the car, because of the changes made by the thieves. The engine number had been erased, the certificate of title destroyed, and the license plates hidden in the rear.

The accessories that were stolen, included both bumpers, the tail light combination stop signal, the fender parking light, the dash light, automatic windshield wiper, horn, top off the foot accelerator, front light lens and bulbs, spare balloon tire and rim, the carburetor, an outside oil line, the crank, motor meter, all tools excepting the pump, the steering wheel nut, rear view mirror, and the motor head was replaced with an old one, the fan was changed, and the intake and exhaust manifold was replaced with old ones. To put the machine completely out of business, the gasoline tank was empty.

The car was abandoned a week ago Tuesday-four miles from Liberty, and has been in the custody of the Union county sheriff, Mrs. Emma E. Ponder, who has been searching for the owner on account of few details left in the machine with which to trace the ownership.

CONFERENCE ON M'GRAY PARDON

Accompanied by Rep. Will Wood, Delegation of 7 Men Meets With Attorney General

NOT A CRIMINAL, THEY SAY

Friends in Plea for Clemency, Declare Former Governor Was Forced Into Frauds

Washington, Aug. 12.—Accompanied by Representative Will Wood of Indiana, a delegation of seven men conferred at length with Attorney General Sargent today in support of a pardon for Ex-Governor Warren T. McCray of Indiana, now serving a sentence of ten years in the Atlanta penitentiary for using the mails to defraud.

The delegation included James W. Noel, George Barnard, William P. Evans and William A. Guthrie, Indianapolis, former governor Charles Osborne of Michigan, E. C. Gatewood, director of the American Hereford Cattle Breeders' association, R. J. Kinder, secretary of the same organization.

Sargent received the delegation at 10 a. m. and conferred past noon. Each member of the delegation spoke to Sargent in turn, saying that McCray was not a criminal, that he was forced into the frauds for which he was convicted, by the agricultural depression a few years ago and that Judge A. B. Anderson, who sentenced him, meted out too harsh a punishment.

More than 225 letters of prominent bankers, business leaders, congressmen, governors of states and others have been sent to Sargent supporting the pardon application. Of 30 bankers who suffered through McCray's activities twenty five have written letters, either endorsing the pardon or expressing sympathy for the prisoner.

Among those were Governors Brandon of Alabama, Peay of Tennessee, Small of Illinois, Martin of Florida; Ex-governor Sweet of Colorado. Postmaster General Now, Will Hays, former senator Beveridge of Indiana, Senators Watson and Ralston of Indiana, Tom Tammart, democratic leader, and seven of the jurymen who convicted McCray.

Governor Jackson of Indiana called Sargent on the telephone yesterday to add his support.

Sargent gave the delegation ample time to present its case. The application, however, must go through...

Three arrests have been made and local authorities report the situation is well in hand today.

When the officials appeared at the meeting there was general rioting.

Guns were brought into play and several knives flashed according to the scanty reports being issued this morning.

EIGHTEEN BOYS ON A JUDGING JUNKET

Good Prospects for Livestock Judging Team Following Tour Held Tuesday

THREE FARMS ARE VISITED

Four Boys Making Highest Scores at Shelby County Fair Will Compete Team

Approximately eighteen Rush county farm boys participated in the livestock judging junket Tuesday, which was held to give the boys instruction in preparation for organizing a team to represent the county in the livestock judging contest at the Indiana state farm in September.

There were twenty-five in the party, including parents of some of the boys, and three farmers were visited to judge cattle, hogs, horses and sheep. Prof. Goble of Purdue university demonstrated livestock judging and pointed out how to judge the good points of a farm animal.

The four Rush county boys making the best scores in the livestock judging contest at the Shelby county fair at Shelbyville will be appointed on the Rush county team. Expenses of the boys at the fair will be paid. The party went first to John Boyd's farm at the south end of Rushville and inspected a herd of cattle and hogs. They judged a class of Jersey cows, one of Jersey heifers, a class of Poland China brood sows and one of Poland China gilts.

The second stop, immediately after dinner, was at the John Whitton farm just east of Rushville, where a class of horses was provided. Prof. Goble said it was unusual to find so many good mares on one farm. Mr. Whitton has three generations represented among his horses, in which he takes great pride.

NEW PROCEDURE TO BE FOLLOWED BY AUDITOR

Claims for Money Expended Must be Accompanied by Receipts Hereafter, He Announces

ACCOUNTS BOARD ADVISE

After a conference with state board of accounts officials Tuesday, Harry Myers, county auditor, announced today that hereafter claims for funds expended, which are filed for payment by the county board of commissioners, will have to be accompanied by a receipt.

It has been the practice in the past, Mr. Myers said, to allow claims for money that had been paid out simply upon the basis of the claim, just as any other claim for money for services rendered is allowed.

The auditor stated that he believed that this practice was not regular and he went to Indianapolis yesterday to consult with the board of accounts about the proper procedure.

He was advised, he said, that no claims should be allowed by the commissioners to reimburse anyone unless a receipt was filed with the claim to show the amount and for what purpose the money was used.

The Little American Opera company which, according to reports received here in the last few days by the chautauqua committee, is one of the really big attractions this year, held the boards at the twenty-first annual chautauqua today.

Sam Small, veteran of many a chautauqua season, was to lecture this afternoon. The eloquent southern evangelist has been at the Rush county assembly before and in spite of inclement weather, he was welcomed back by a good sized crowd.

Thavin and his band won a large circle of admirers here with two programs Tuesday. It may be safely said that no band at the chautauqua was ever more popular and that none ever offered a program with a wider appeal.

The half way mark of the chautauqua passed today, with only three more days remaining after tonight's program, but the three days are chock full of good things for chautauqua patrons—three outstanding men who have won achievement in the world of affairs and three notable musical organizations.

On Thursday comes Senator W. E. Ferris of Michigan, an educator who has had long experience in public life; Dr. John Thompson of Chicago, (Continued on Page Eight)

STATE TAX RATE TO BE REDUCED

John W. Brown, Chairman of State Tax Board, Expects a Substantial Decrease in 1925

PRESENT RATE 28 CENTS

Goal of Administration of Gov. Jackson is to Place Next Year's Levy at a Quarter

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 12.—(U.P.)—Assurance of a substantial reduction in the state tax levy for 1926 was given today by John W. Brown, chairman of the state tax board.

"I see no reason why there should not be a substantial reduction in the tax levy," Brown said as the board took up the work of giving final consideration to the protests of counties which refused the board's orders on equalization of real estate and personal property assessments.

Brown was reluctant to venture a prediction as to the actual figure of the 1926 levy until the board has completed its work.

The present levy is 28 cents. The goal of the administration of Governor Jackson is a reduction to 25 cents next year.

Brown pointed out that there will be a decrease of probably $150,000,000 in property assessment valuations along with the reduction in the tax levy.

"Last year the total assessment valuation of property and real estate in Indiana was $5,356,000,000 valuation figure will be about $5,100,000,000."

Previous estimates had placed the net reduction at considerably less than $150,000,000.

The average decrease on farm land assessments throughout the state was approximately 11 percent, Brown said.

This reduction will aid materially in lightening the unequal burden of taxation borne by farm land since the boom days of the war period.

The tax board has allowed a material reduction in the assessment valuation of all interurban companies in the state because of the depreciated value of their property due to bus competition.

On other utilities and urban property there was a general tendency to increase the assessments.

In fifty-one counties the boards of review were ordered to revise assessment figures, in practically all cases the orders being for increases.

The boards completed consideration of the recommendations of the state tax board last week and increases where the recommendations were rejected had until Monday evening to file notice of protest with the state tax board.

Today the state tax board was going over protests of counties rejecting the orders and second and final orders will be mailed to the county auditors Thursday.

If sufficient evidence is presented to the tax board that it erred in its first orders, the orders will be revised, Brown said.

There is no recourse from the second set of orders which will be issued Thursday because the orders are not subject to injunction, according to state tax officials.

In some counties where increases were ordered over the assessment figures of the county assessors threat was made of court action to prevent the increases from becoming effective.

Such threats are without legal foundation, according to officials of the tax board.

Individual protests against assessments must be filed with the commission not later than next

Fayette Farmers See Value of Limestone

A meeting was held recently at the home of Web Ensminger in Fayette county to inspect his alfalfa and show that this crop can be successfully grown in the county when lime drainage and inoculation are provided. Mr. Ensminger had sowed alfalfa on limed land in July 1923 and 1924 and April 1925. The first two seedings were half Grimm and half common the last was all Grimm, and all three seedings are doing well. The Soiltest and the Comber test were applied by County Agent M. F. Detrick in a number of places to show that slight acidity is reflected in the yield of alfalfa. Many have been trying to grow alfalfa without lime, but the value of lime went over big at this meeting. One man ordered a soil tester to make a more careful survey of his own soils, and another stated that he would buy a crusher to pulverize rock on his own farm.

Cyanide Gases Groundhog

A very effective demonstration of the use of calcium cyanide in eradicating the ground hog was held at the farm of Albert Baile in Clinton county, by County Agent V. J. Mann. After considerable digging, one was uncovered and a spoonful of cyanide thrown down beside him, killing him instantly. As a result, there has been considerable demand for the poison, and a local drug store represented at the meeting is keeping it in stock and is much interested in the proposition, instructing farmers in its use. Groundhogs have become a pest in several sections of the county.

Good References Required

YOU would not like to hire anyone without a good reference.

Why not extend the same plan to the servants you buy for your home — the servants that sweep your floors, that wash and iron your clothes — that play music — that feed your family? You can buy such servants—vacuum cleaners, washers and ironers, phonographs and food—with or without references. When they are advertised, they are vouched for by a responsible person—the merchant or manufacturer. You can buy them with confidence—knowing that they must live up to their references.

That's why it pays you to read the advertisements. Through advertising you learn not only what is good, but what is trustworthy.

An advertisement in the afternoon paper is more than a reference — it is a certified check of satisfaction

YES—BUT I DIDN'T INTEND TO BUY YOUR WEARING APPAREL FOR THE COMING YEAR!

Sharing expenses of an automobile trip sounds all right in theory, but in practice it leaves the door wide open for old man "Trouble" to enter. The Gunn and Tye families try it on their vacation automobile trip and the funny events are pictured in the comic strip, "MOM'S POP." It starts on August 15 in this paper. Don't miss it.

Help For Nervous Women

It has often been said that only a woman can understand what nervousness women endure. Most cases of nervousness, sleeplessness, mental depression, headaches, backache, fretting and worrying have their origin in some feminine ailment that will readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, which for over forty years has been restoring women of America to health and strength. Merit alone could have stood such a test.

trolman Everman, there was only one eyewitness to the accident. Mrs. Carl Matern of Indianapolis, who is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Lou Gohring, who lives on the street corner where the accident happened, was sitting on the porch.

According to her statement, Mr. Moorman evidently was not aware of the fact that a machine was near him, and he turned directly into its path, striking the machine after it had almost cleared him. She stated that the driver of the machine was not driving any faster than 20 or 25 miles, and tried to avoid an accident by sounding his horn, and swerving his machine to the opposite side of the street.

She stated that when she reached Mr. Moorman, he was unconscious, and that he had lurched forward heavily on the brick street.

Mr. Morrell, driver of the machine, reported to police headquarters after the accident and remained with them until they had made an investigation.

Mr. Moorman has been in the concrete and cement contracting business here for years. He and his wife live at 423 West First street. They have four children, Bert and Miss Mary Moorman of Florida, Francis Moorman of Richmond, Ind., and Edward Moorman.

Political Talk is Already Heard Concerning Probable Candidates Three Years Hence

COOLIDGE MAY RUN AGAIN

Dawes and Lowden Also Mentioned as Standard Bearer—Al Smith and M'Adoo in The List

By PAUL R. MALLON

Washington, Aug. 12—Although the next national political convention of the Republican and Democratic parties are three years off, leaders of various factions within both ranks have already begun grooming their favorite candidates.

Not in recent years has open agitation begun at such an early date and some Republicans are aroused over the situation since intimations have been given that President Coolidge may himself seek a third term in the White House.

The Washington Star—described by some as reflecting the official editorial views of the administration—recently took cognizance of the situation and publicly stated:

"It would seem the part of wisdom to wait and see how successfully the administration of President Coolidge works out before discussing another man for the Republican nomination in 1928.

"Unless he should declare himself out of the race or unless his popularity should wane in the meantime, the chances of the other Republican candidates three years hence appear to be about as valuable as the German mark two years ago."

This sentiment was directed specifically at Vice President Charles C. Dawes and former Governor Frank O. Lowden, both of Illinois. Dawes has been campaigning with such vehemence against the present rules of the senate over which he presides, that observers see in the movement an effort to himself in a prominent position among the candidates of 1928.

The Lowden boom has been forecast by his Illinois friends. Lowden has been a candidate for the Republican nomination before the last two conventions. The Cleveland convention last year honored him with selection as vice presidential running mate of Mr. Coolidge but he declined.

Beside Dawes and Lowden, the other most prominently mentioned Republicans include:

Senator William Borah, close adviser of Mr. Coolidge who has been called to the White House on every important problem the President has been called upon to decide. The President respects Borah's views, and it is not inconceivable that he might swing his support to Borah should he himself decide not to run for a third term. Borah was called into consultation before former Attorney General Daugherty was asked by Mr. Coolidge to resign; when foreign debt matters were discussed; when the Lausanne treaty was the subject of conversation at a White House and when the recent Mexican note was decided upon. Borah, it is pointed out could command support even of the progressive Republicans within the ranks although he is not the man that many of the regulars would choose if the choice were left to them alone.

WIZARDS AND GOBLINS PARADE

Senator James W. Wadsworth, New York, now chairman of the military affairs committee in the senate whose strength had not yet been fully shown.

General John J. Pershing, often mentioned as candidate in the last few years. Pershing has recently strengthened his position by his activities in diplomatic channels, and as head of the Tacna-Arica plebiscite commission.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover whose views are well liked by Mr. Coolidge and whose administration of the Commerce department has increased his political appeal.

The Democratic candidates have been less active and their ballyhooing has been confined to those who fought an unsuccessful draw during the New York convention last year.

From the "Pacific" coast comes word that Gov. Al Smith of New York is receiving attention and the mention of his name of course revived that of his former opponent William G. McAdoo. It is understood that John W. Davis, the former candidate, would not accept the nomination again.

The history of politics has been that those who have sent up their trial balloons early in the race have only succeeded in having them shot down by their opponents. An early start is certain to develop early opposition and the nominees in recent year have not been the most popular men within the ranks but those who were least opposed.

But this lesson is having no effect on the present developments and indications are that the intensity of the movements will only be increased during the remaining months before the conventions.

AUTO OVERTURNS, 1 KILLED

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 12—Lee Croll, 48, a lumberman, was killed and Joseph Murphy, 53, was slightly injured when their automobile overturned near here. Croll's head was caught in the door of the automobile and crushed.

A Much Needed Prayer:—

Calling a Spade a Spade

Judge Fred Hines of the Hamilton county circuit court called attorneys for the defense in the trial of D. C.
Stephenson and two others for murder,
"plain purgers" in referring to their affidavit for a change of judge, alleging he was biased and prejudiced.

Anyone who knows Judge Hines does not doubt his integrity; neither do they doubt his ability to conduct a fair and impartial trial.

The method used by the defense attorneys in this case, however, is no different than that employed in any other case where attorneys wish for some reason to delay the trial.

It seemed rather startling for a circuit court judge to call attorneys falsifiers in polite terms, but it simply was a case of calling a spade a spade, a thing which few judges do because they appreciate that attorneys have a right to obtain a different judge, and lawyers have to make a showing that the judge they want removed is not qualified to sit.

This practice is just one of the many things that contribute to the law's delay, a factor that has made law enforcement a difficult thing to accomplish.

Few would recommend that this court procedure be changed. It is recognized as a protection for both plaintiffs and defendants at the bar of justice. There might be instances where the judge would be prejudiced, but such cases are so rare that there is seldom necessity for a change of judge.

The evil is in attorneys taking advantage of the right the law gives their clients and using it to gain illegitimate ends. It was never intended that the privilege of obtaining a change of judge should be de-based by using it to delay the law's purpose—obtaining justice.

Short Cuts

This is an age of short cuts to everything. No one seems to have time for the "meat" of anything.

The hair is cut short, the dresses are cut short and the sleeves are cut short.

We want our sermons short and we insist on our public speakers making it short and "snappy."

Synthetic foods, substitutes for the real thing, abound, and corn beef and cabbage exist only as a comic page myth.

Everybody is looking for a short

Loses Hundreds of Dollars

"I am sorry I did not hear of May's Wonderful Remedy a few years ago, as it would have saved me several hundred dollars. Five years I suffered from indigestion and severe bloating. I grew worse all the time. My doctor said an operation would be all that could save me.
I took a course of May's Wonderful Remedy instead and for the past year have been entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis.

out to wealth without work. Robbing a bank seems to be the most favored of short cuts in this class.
Motorists are constantly demanding short cuts and highway commissions are straightening highways to make greater speed possible.

Short cuts to health are sought in sanitariums after health has been lost by burning the candle at both ends.

But the world's work is not going to be done with short cuts.
Those of us who are engulfed in the "short cut" mania will have to learn that patience, time and hard work are just as much requirements of accomplishment as they ever were.

A Makeshift

The coal crisis, which has hung like a dark cloud over Great Britain for the past several weeks, has been averted temporarily, but by a plan which is far wide of British tradition. The coal operators declared that because of European competition they could no longer sell coal unless wages were reduced. The miners countered with the statement that they were barely subsisting and that a reduction in their pay meant slow starvation.

The threatened strike would have tied up industry in great Britain as the other labor unions had decided to support the miners and to refuse to transport or handle any coal after the strike was declared.

At the darkest hour Premier Baldwin intervened with an offer by the government to make up the differences to the operators in cash, if the men would continue work. In other words the government agreed to subsidize the coal mines. The agreement is to last until May, 1926 and in the meantime a fact-finding commission is to try to find the remedy for the mining trouble.

It is a makeshift at best. The miners and the operators are both dissatisfied. There is something radically wrong when government has to subsidize business.

The next few months will be perilous ones for the British commonwealth, but the nation has travelled perilous roads before and will probably come safely through this one.

With the government, however, paying out millions in the way of pensions to the unemployed, and preparing to pay millions more to subsidize the coal industry, the outlook is not an encouraging one.

The Hodge Podge
By a Paragapher With a Soul

Good advertising costs nothing in the final analysis, because it produces more than you pay for it.

The absence of an opportunity to cheat may account for the honesty of lots of folks.

By starting now and working at it every day, you may get your Christmas shopping done before Christmas.

Flappers rush into paths their mothers feared to tread.

Some men apparently think they can get harmony at home best by staying away most of the time.

Every time they build a new railroad crossing, the automobile dealers order more cars.

When a man wins his spurs, he is very apt to get cocky.

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Ask an old-line Republican, "Who'll be the next radical leader in the senate"—for you know the old-liners are thinking a lot about this—and the chances are he'll reply, right off the bat, "It won't be Frazier anyway."

Then he'll take time to say rad-icalism's completely gone up, so it won't need any leader.

YET when you inquire, "Why not Frazier—anyway? Why not course not?" all the explanation you get will be, "Oh, he wouldn't do."

After hearing substantially this same thing about two dozen times you begin to get the impression the old-line Republicans are a jiffy afraid of Frazier—think he'd make a pretty formidable radical leader, which wouldn't suit their book a mite—they want radicalism to disintegrate, for lack of leadership—and are trying to punch-punch him out of consideration.

MAYBE he wouldn't make a good radical leader. But it seems premature to say "not course" he wouldn't.

To a nonpartisan bystander it seems as if he might make a fair stab at the job. He isn't speculator, like La Follette, but he's able, well-informed, experienced in politics, has punch, knows how to make a first-class speech and take care of himself in debate and shows a wonderful capacity for handling and standing up under some mighty hard knocks.

He was elected governor of North Dakota three times. In the midst of his third term he was recalled by 4102 votes. If that wasn't a jolt what is? In spite of it, the very next year he was elected to the senate by a majority of 8848.

A comeback like that—and so quick—suggests a strong man.

PERHAPS there's no particular reason for predicting he'll be the next radical standard bearer in the senate, but this constant Republican old-line repetition of, "Oh no, of course not," sounds queer. It sounds as if the old-liners "hoped" not. It almost hints that that's just what he will be.

World's Champion Woman Athlete
Was An Invalid Three Years Ago

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Los Angeles Aug. 12.—(U. P.)—A slim fragile wisp of a girl left Chicago with her mother three years ago and came to California, hoping to regain some of her lost health.

The other day—that same girl, in a flaming red running suit, with crimson cheeks to match, a dazzling specimen of feminine virility, broke three world's track and field records for women.

It was Helen Filkey, now recognized as greatest woman athlete in the world.

At the Women's National A. A. U. championships at Pasadena, Helen competed with America's finest sports women, and in one afternoon ascended to the topmost rung of the woman's athletic ladder of fame.

She set new world's records in the running broad jump, the 100 yard dash and the 60-yard high hurdles. Her leap in the broad jump was 17 feet, she clipped the century in 11 2-5 seconds, and ran the tall hurdles in 8.3-10 seconds.

A girl capable of these feats should be a proverbial Amazon—husky, masculine and rugged. But Helen Filkey is neither masculine nor muscular. On the contrary she is possessed of a feminine charm and loveliness for which many of Hollywood's film producers would pay her handsomely to star in their pictures.

She can be distinguished at athletic meets by her slender, girlish figure. In action on the track and field, she wears a blood-red running suit. Between events she calmly powders her pretty nose, with characteristic flapper grace.

Other girl athletes tackle their problems with a certain mannishness. Helen Filkey approaches them like a flapper bent on conquest of male hearts. She doesn't scowl nor grimace while breaking world's athletic records. She just smiles, while her dark eyes twinkle merrily. No awkwardness mars the beauty of her performances—she runs like a fawn, and 6s fairly sylph-like when she leaps a hurdle.

Helen holds her honors modestly. "Pop Eck trained me," she confided. "He's the greatest trainer in the world—he's getting old now, but he certainly knows his business."

"But you want to keep your eyes glued on my kid sisters, Marge, who is just five, and Marion, who is eleven. I'm training them myself, and they'll be world beaters."

Miss Filkey runs under the colors of the Chicago Athletic Club, but she developed her athletic prowess, she said, while fighting illness in California's southland.

"Mother brought me to California three years ago when I was awfully sick," she said. "But I got better out here, and of course I was always more or less interested in athletics."

ARRELS

Cause of High Prices

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Aug. 12.—With the exception of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Athletics, two young hustling clubs, every team in the major leagues needs some rebuilding to figure in the 1926 pennant races.

This means that the club owners will have to bid against each other for promising young players and prices will return to the peak that was reached three years ago.

It was understood that the magnates reached an agreement two years ago to quit paying exorbitant prices for minor league players, but Connie Mack broke over last winter when he gave the Baltimore Orioles the equivalent of $100,000 in cash and players for Lefty Groves.

No agreement, however, will induce a club owner not to pay higher prices than his rivals for one or two young players who might put his club into the pennant race.

Supply and demand makes the market for ball players and the demand will be so great this winter and the supply so limited that prices necessarily must go up.

The New York Yankees have to be rebuilt almost entirely, and when they take their cash into the market the other clubs will have to go high to outbid them.

The Brooklyn Robins already have spent $50,000 for young pitchers alone to be delivered at the close of the season. The New York Giants, needing pitching reinforcements, are also investing heavily in youngsters. The Giants can afford to go high for any pitching prospect as John McGraw does not have to bother himself about players with the exception of a good young catcher that will be needed for next year.

Two, three and four clubs have been found to be after every good player that has been located in the minor leagues. The Giants, the

Cause of High Prices

Yanks the Reds and the champion Senators are bidding for Hal Rhyne, the young San Francisco infielder, and this case is typical of many others.

There is no doubt that the major league magnates have to pay high prices for minor league experiments, but the situation is such now that they will have to go high or remain away from the market.

Close attention to physical examination and strict application of the rule that a boxer must be in proper condition before he enters the ring is the most important duty of a boxing commission.

Several recent examples would show that those authorities in charge of the administration of the game are not as careful as they might be.

Hall of Fame

Herman Schwartz, giant pitcher of the Bloomington team, Three-Eye League, got into ballroom's hall of fame the other day by hurling a perfect game against Springfield, not an opposing batter reaching first base. Schwartz formerly pitched in the Michigan-Ontario League.

KEEPING ONE EYE
ON THE SCORE-BOARD

Yesterday's Hero: Ed Rommel, star pitcher for the Athletics, downed the Browns, 3 to 2, and won his 20th game of the season. He didn't allow a hit for the first five innings.

Kelly's error in the eighth inning helped a rally that turned in five runs and gave the Pirates a 7 to 4 victory over the Giants. The Pirates now lead by 4 1/2 games.

Pounding four Yank pitchers for 19 hits the White Sox won 15 to 2.

Returning to form after losing three straight games, Coveleskie pitched the champion Senators to a 3 to 1 victory over the Indians. The Indians failed to score after the first inning.

Ineffective pitched by Joe Oeschger helped the Reds to a 7 to 2 victory over the Robins.

Benton let the Cubs down with four hits and the Braves won, 9 to 2.

Reogel's triple and a single by Lee gave the Red Sox a victory of 1 to 0 over the Tigers.

Pancho Villa's death was indirectly caused by the failure of the officials to observe that he was not in condition to fight. He had an infected jaw and he was so sick that he should never have entered the ring. He insisted, however, that he take a chance rather than disappoint the crowd.

Eddie Shea, the Chicago bantamweight, was in no condition to fight the night he was knocked out by Charley Rosenberg, the world's champion. Shea did not suffer any bad effects from the punching he got, but he might have been killed or permanently disabled.

It is better to take precautions before a fight and disappoint a crowd if necessary than to pass resolutions of sympathy after a fatality.

New York—Pairs for the entries in the national woman's singles championship which starts at Forest Hills next week will be drawn today by officials of the United States Tennis association. The leading players of England, Canada and the United States are included in the entries.

Di-Jo Relieves Indigestion

There is no doubt that many people suffer needlessly from indigestion and stomach trouble. If they only knew the relief that can be secured through Di-Jo Tablets this number would be much less.

Most cases of indigestion arise from overeating, eating too fast or eating the wrong kind of food. In all such cases a few Di-Jo Tablets after each meal will give almost instant relief to that heavy, bloated feeling, belching or sour stomach.

The simple drugs used in the preparation of Di-Jo are intended for just such relief and are the same as prescribed by family physicians for years. They are packed in convenient form for your use.

Try Di-Jo Tablets and you will be surprised at the quick results. All druggists sell and recommend them.

If you are troubled with constipation take Di-VAC. It is sold by all druggists, and is recommended as the proper laxative to be used in connection with Di-Jo, if any is needed.

DUSTY MILLER, Auctioneer.

FIRST PICTURE EVER TAKEN OF AN ACTUAL LYNCHING

Taking the law in its hands, a mob of nearly 500 men took Miller Mitchell, negro, from the jail at Excelsior Springs, Mo., and hanged him to a tree in a nearby field. Miller, accused of having attacked a white girl, told his executioners that if he had time, he could prove his innocence. This photo, taken during the actual lynching, is said to be the first of such a scene in the United States.

PLAN NO CHANGE ON AUTO PLATES

Permanent Plates for Automobile Owners Will Not be Considered at Present Time

FIRST COST TOO MUCH

Best Plate Submitted Cost State $7 a Set, While Present Ones Are Only 12½ Cents

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 12—(U.P.)—Adoption of permanent license plates for Indiana automobiles appears very improbable at the present time, Frederick Schortemeier, secretary of state, said today.

Numerous samples of permanent plates have been received and investigated by the auto-license department of the secretary of state's office.

All have proven unsatisfactory either from the standpoint of cost or wearing qualities, Schortemeier said.

One firm manufacturing auto license plates sent in a sample that gave promise of being everything that was desired in the way of durability.

The sample was quickly discarded, however, when it was learned that the cost was $7 a pair. This price was regarded by state officials as being prohibitive.

Numerous other plates submitted were rejected because their wearing qualities appeared to be no better than the present yearly license plates, Schortemeier said.

The present plates cost the state twelve and one half cents each. The cheapest permanent plate, which appeared to be of no better quality was priced at more than twice that amount.

The proposal to adopt permanent license plates was made at the last session of the legislature. The auto license law passed by the legislature authorized the secretary of state to investigate permanent plates and adopt them if he deemed it advisable.

Schortemeier's investigation thus far has led him to the conclusion that the yearly plates are the most economical.

He indicated that unless a more durable plate can be purchased at a reasonable cost the present yearly plates will continue to be used.

Schortemeier last week took up with officials of the state prison at Michigan City the question of having the yearly license plates manufactured by inmates of the institution.

If it is found the plates can be manufactured cheaper in the prison, then they can be purchased from an outside firm the change may be made.

At present the plates are made by a manufacturing company of Lexington, Ky.

who constructed the largest downtown church in the United States, and lastly, Dr. Albert Edward Wigam, a native Hoosier, who is credited with having written the best sellers in the non-fiction field during the last year. He discusses the perplexing facts of science in a way so that the man in the street can understand it.

This is not mentioning Chief Caudican, the South American Indian, who is on the program Friday evening for a concert along with the Marimbaphone sextette. Chief Caudican was not a grand opera singer when he came to the Rush county chautauqua several years ago, but those who recall hearing him remember that he then possessed a most remarkable voice and that he talked most interestingly. Since that time, he has sung in grand opera.

In discussing his work, Mr. Thaviv said, with a bit of justifiable pride, "The newspapers tell our story for us before we come, we tell our own story for ourselves while we are here, then there is nothing more need to be said," and this is indeed the truth for to hear this great organization of splendid musicians under the direction of their wonderful leader is ample recommendation for all future engagements and the Rush county chautauqua is ready to welcome them back as soon as they are ready to come back. There have been larger bands than Thaviv's but never a better one not forgetting that many large bands have been at the local chautauqua.

Such precision, such delicacy of tonal shading and such power in all climaxes make all their music a real joy. The conducting of Thaviv makes one see harmony and rhythm while the ear is hearing it and not one bit of effect of any instrument is lost under the guidance of this master's baton. The band has with it Miss Mary Jane Todd, soprano, and Misha Keeshelevsky, baritone. Miss Todd has a rich clear voice of wide range with full power to carry the band accompaniment. Her solo number in the afternoon was the "Spanish Serenade." Only a few measures were needed to tell the audience that Misha Keeshelevsky has not only a good voice, but that he has fine dramatic ability.

His interpretation of a selection from Rossini's "Barber of Seville" was one of the best things on the program. All of their music is of the best and faultlessly rendered.

DEVELOPMENT CO. IS ORGANIZED HERE

He said that he had compared land values here with that in counties similar to Rush county in other states and had found that the percent of variance was even greater.

To encourage the building of homes will be one of the principal activities of the company, it being realized that most men would rather own their own homes than pay rent all their lives. Their plan is to make a home available to every household in Rushville by paying for them as rent is paid, by the month.

The company will finance people who own their own lots and wish to build a home for those who have never invested in real estate, as the company has several home sites available.

Arrangements can also be made, it was stated by officers of the company, by which deposits may be made, and interest will be paid so that those who want to build can accumulate enough to make the first down payment.
